

Michelle Moses-Eisenstein, MPH '12

Term: 2014-Present

Michelle Moses-Eisenstein is a Public Health Analyst in the Office of HIV/AIDS and Infectious Disease Policy at the US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). She served as the 2012-2013 Association of Schools and Programs of Public Health (ASPPH) Public Health Policy Fellow. As an ASPPH Fellow, Michelle served in the Office of Budget, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Financial Resources (ASFR) at HHS, and in the Office of Congresswoman Barbara Lee, who serves on the Labor-HHS Appropriations and Budget Committees. Previously, Michelle was an Allan Rosenfield Fellow with amfAR, the Foundation for AIDS Research, in their Washington DC Public Policy Office.

Michelle earned a Master of Public Health in Health Policy and Management at the Mailman School of Public Health at Columbia University. During graduate school, Michelle served as Project Coordinator in the Monitoring and Evaluation Unit at ICAP at Columbia University and performed with the Bard Hall Players, a student-run theater group at Columbia University Medical Center. Michelle was a Hispanic-Serving Health Professions Schools (HSHPS) fellow at the National Center for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta, GA. Michelle graduated from Bard College with a B.A. in Psychology and Global and International Studies. She interned at the Center for Reproductive Rights as a Bard Globalization and International Affairs Program participant, and with Women's Equity in Access to Care and Treatment

Michelle sings in the DC metropolitan area with Bethesda Little Theatre. She was born in San Antonio, TX, and grew up in Northern California.