

Thomas Campbell Jackson, MPH '98

Term: 2005-Present

Through the Brandt Jackson Foundation and other entities, Thomas Campbell Jackson provides strategic planning and support for organizations promoting health, education, economic literacy, and the arts and sciences broadly. He is Venture Capitalist, and a Producer of works in Film and Theatre.

He has over two decades of experience in health policy matters, including as Director of the City of New York's Employee Health Benefits Program, which arranges health coverage for over a million city employees, retirees and their families. As the President of Zeitblom Analytics, Mr. Jackson consulted in micro and macro health policy.

Jackson serves on the Board of Overseers of Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health, the Board of Governors of the New York Academy of Sciences, and the boards of Imagine Science Films, the Bellevue Literary Press, and other nonprofits and businesses.

He received a BA in economics and German from Tufts University, and a Master of Public Health degree in Health Policy and Management from Columbia University's Mailman School of Public Health.

